Albyco D-310 Electric punching & manual binding

Electric binding-system for binding with double-loops-wire, easy solution for fast and representative document-binding of all your documents

The system is equipped with a paper chip collection tray and an adjustable installation. The machine has an adjustable punching depth for beautiful punching of documents of different thickness; thick books usually have a larger punching distance, thinner documents a smaller punching distance. That makes browsing easier.

The punching knives can be switched off separately. This makes it possible to punch paper of all sizes. For example, if A5 paper needs to be punched, or A4 on the short side, a punch knife can be turned off so that half holes are not punched.

The locking system of the Albyco D-310 has side, in the back, a magnetic strip. This strip holds the metal binding ring on the back during closing. This ensures that the ring is always closed nicely and roundly.
